The Stage.
Hippodrome....Naughty Sweethearts
The Screen.
Nelson.....A Daughter of the Wolf
Dixie.....Sins of the Children
Princess.....When Bonds Are Loosed

FOLLOWING behind Jack Murphy's show, and a long way behind too, the "Naughty Sweethearts" opened at the Hipp yesterday to big business, the first evening show seeing almost a sell out. The entertainment was of the most ordinary kind. The four Musical Kings stand out, and the little girls on either end of the chorus, the smaller of the four Kings, are by far and wide more clever than big brother and sister, and inject a snap and comedy spirit into their work that was good for most of the laughs in the show. The comedian is fair, some of the stuff going over nicely. Designating hotel rooms by states instead of numbers allows some good comedy to creep in if it were not shot off at such speed that one can get only a word here and there.

Hold Your-Hosses!

An old reliable in the show world is John W. Vogel who started in the business goodness only knows when, and for all these years has stuck to the minstrel end of the game until he is probably now the best known man in the business. H. C. L. has hit his little business just the same as that of anyone else. For instance, it is said that the settings in the first part of the program alone cost over $5,000. It is all rich heavy velvet that cost enormously these days. Each of the big novelty acts also requires special scenery, and not a single piece of house stuff will be used in the entire performance. Grand patrons will instantly recognize Saturday night, their old favorite who again heads the band and orchestra James L. Flinn who has been connected with the Vogel enterprise so long that to think of one is to think of the other. The production comes to the Grand Saturday for both matinee and night.

Custer's Last Fight.

The most pathetic page in the last chapter of Indian warfare has been made a living memory by Thos. H. Ince, in a stupendous and wonderful production, "Custer's Last Fight." This extraordinary revival will be shown at the Nelson theatre today and tomorrow.

"With all these dollars I have given you, I want you to go into the steamboat and buy some shirts and pants. We will leave here in two days." That was the beginning of the end for that great hero. General George A. Custer, as he directed his faithful Crow Indian scouts two days before the battle which stamped him forever a hero—an American hero.

In this great production, filled with action, thrilling suspense and pathos, not a single detail of the fight is neglected. Months of research work among the written documents, and the living memories of the Indians and older soldiers who remember this battle, have been combined in the production of a history-making feature. Ince scoured the country for the old Indian braves who had fought under Custer or with that cowardly yet mighty Medicine Man, Sitting Bull. The principal Indian parts are played by many of the warriors who actually fought on Custer Field.

The old Indians who fought in that battle in 1876 are now dying out—the race is vanishing. Never again will there be an opportunity to record as a permanent, living record, that vanishing race and the part it played in America's early life. Never again will there be an opportunity to gain and picture so authentically a living knowledge of their old customs, their religion.

A Swift Moving Comedy.

From the moment the curtain rises upon "Listen Lester" at the Grand Thursday night, all notice of time ceases amid the delightful whirl and attractive happenings exposed. By reason of the number of events which occupy the attention of the spectator he would suppose that there was no end to the length of time the performance takes to fully unfold, but so swiftly do events follow one upon the heels of the other, that it seems not more than an hour all told, from the first curtain to the final one. It all has to do with a certain "live wire" called Arbutus Quilly, and the efforts of a Colonel Dodge to extricate himself from the clutches of the afore-mentioned lady, with several love affairs thrown in for good measure and comedy and beauty galore. There is singing and dancing, an exciting story, laugh-splitting specialties, exquisite scenery, and a specially selected cast of metropolitan players.

Charlie Chaplin Today.

A good double bill is repeating at the Dixie today. Charlie Chaplin is possibly heading the program, which carries beside "The Floorwalker," a comedy, the wonderful drama "Sins of the Children," by Cosmo Hamilton. Special music by the popular Dixie orchestra.

The gallant Ace has won his place. But he does nobly done. But when coffee's sought, the kind that's bought, is the "Ace" of them all—Golden Sun.

There is nothing gained in the long run by buying anything of mail order houses, certainly not groceries. Golden Sun, for instance, can only be bought through local grocers. They buy only as needed and so you get it fresh roasted.

Mr. Parks is very enthusiastic over his show, and says that it is one of the best entertaining organizations on the road this season, and has played to wonderfully pleased audiences in the larger cities. From here he goes to Clarksburg.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is very easily prepared, and really there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.
